

Ancient Studies Week

September 27-30, 2022

Tuesday, September 27, 10am-6pm, PAHB Forum

‘Vergilathon’: A Reading of the Aeneid. If you would like to read, please contact Dr. Kutner (mabailey@umbc.edu).

Wednesday, September 28, 7-10pm, FA 215

Aristophanes’ Peace, Student and Faculty Reading of the Play

Limited in-person capacity. If you would like to attend, please email Emily Hubbard (ehubbard@umbc.edu). If you are interested in reading, please contact Dr. Rosenbloom (dsrose@umbc.edu).

Thursday, September 29, 4pm, AOK Library Gallery

Reception to follow

ANCS Week Keynote Lecture by Dr. Silvia Montiglio, Gildersleeve Professor in Classics at Johns Hopkins University, “An Immoral Pleasure? Schadenfreude in the Iliad and Odyssey.” Co-sponsored by the Dresher Center for the Humanities. For more information, visit <https://dreshercenter.umbc.edu/events/upcoming/current-humanities-forum/event/106896/>.

Limited in-person capacity. If you would like to attend, please email Emily Hubbard (ehubbard@umbc.edu). The lecture will also be live-streamed.

Friday, September 30, 11am-2pm, Commons Breezeway

Exhibition of the Department of Ancient Studies’ Spiro Collection of Antiquities

Image: Iris Approaching Athena and Hera, c. 1780 Attributed to Louis-Jean-François Lagrenée; Artist: Formerly attributed to Jacques Réattu