Cyber Security Investment Trends – “Show Me the Money”

To learn the latest in cybersecurity investment trends, bwtech@UMBC is inviting venture capitalists and early stage investors who are focused mostly in security to discuss what's hot and what's not in the deal space. Our panelists will layout market drivers, appetite for investing, and lay down some predictions about companies and markets to watch. Listen to candid discussions from some of the areas most prominent investors in seed and start-up, early-stage, development, and expansion capital.

Cyber security has been leading the headlines and continues to be a challenge for both government and industry. This challenge drives demand for innovative technologies. Maryland's interest lies in being the host state of organizations like the National Security Agency, US Cyber Command, and major corporations making up the Defense Industrial Base. These activities have a direct correlation to our economic growth and future strategy. Please join us and hear what the investment community has to say.
