

JAQUELINE FERNANDES

BOOK TALK

SEPT 22, 2022

4:30-5:30 PM

Jaqueline Fernandes, a Brazilian cultural activist, will be giving a book talk about the Latinidades Festival in Brazil, held annually since 2008. It is the largest Black feminist festival in the world and Fernandes is its co-founder. The Festival has been a platform for the work and knowledge of black women. In 15 years, it has reached more than 350,000 people as a direct audience with free training activities and artistic presentations.

Latinidades Festival - Memories and Utopias of Black Women describes the festival and its political and cultural impact on Latin America.

Dresher Center Conference Room, PAHB 216

Seating is limited!

Please contact Liz Steenrod at esteenrod@umbc.edu to reserve seats or with questions.

HOSTED BY THE LANGUAGE, LITERACY & CULTURE PROGRAM WITH SUPPORT FROM THE CENTER FOR SOCIAL SCIENCE SCHOLARSHIP, THE DRESHER CENTER FOR THE HUMANITIES, AND THE LATINX/HISPANIC FACULTY ASSOCIATION AT UMBC.