EMERGING LEADERS

Seminar

Friday, November 5, 2021

Discover what it means to begin your career with Stifel by attending the Emerging Leaders Seminar. During the virtual event, students will hear from senior professionals in Investment Banking, Fixed Income Capital Markets, and Equity Research about potential career paths in the financial services industry. The event will include valuable insights about careers in financial services as well as information about summer internship opportunities.

The seminar is open to diverse students in their first and second years who have demonstrated high academic achievement and are interested in exploring careers in the financial services industry.

There should be nothing about anyone's birth or personal background that limits their ability to contribute and compete at our firm. The benefits of moving toward this ideal will be unquantifiable in the best sense of the word, so I cannot stress enough that diversity does not need to earn its place in our ranks. We need to work, and keep working, to earn its benefits.

Ron Kruszewski, CEO Stifel
