

The Baltimore Geography Collective Presents

Housing & The Everyday: Crisis, Vibrancy, and Organizing

Please join us for the first part of The Baltimore Conversations, a panel series bringing together academics and community activists working in Baltimore. This panel will focus on the structures and strategies shaping housing and the everyday lives of Baltimoreans. We hope to challenge the dominant discourse of 'progress' that is predicated on systems of extraction by centering forgotten and marginalized narratives of the city. We invite dialogue on collectively shaping a right to the city.

Mike Casiano

American Studies, UMBC
Charm City Land Trust

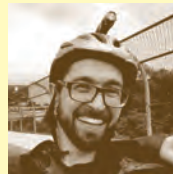

Shelley Halstead

Black Women Build

Paige Glotzer

History, University of Wisconsin

Eli Pousson

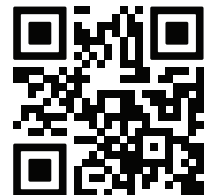

Neighborhood Design Center

Moderated by Dena Aufseeser (Geography and Environmental Systems, UMBC) and Dillon Mahmoudi (Geography and Environmental Systems, UMBC). Event generously sponsored by the Urban Geography journal with support from University of Maryland Baltimore County, Towson University, & Goucher College.

Have questions? Trouble joining? Email dillonm@umbc.edu

THURSDAY, OCT 28 @ 7PM. VIRTUAL.

<https://ges.umbc.edu/events/event/98174/>

SCAN ME