

LGBTQ+ Student Researchers, Scholars, Artists:

Are you involved in social justice scholarship? Do you conduct LGBT-related research? Do you make queer-themed art?

Queer Research at UMBC!

Undergraduate Research Awards (URA)

Get up to $1500 to support your research or creative work

Eligible students are degree-seeking undergraduates who will conduct mentored-research or creative work, June 2019- May 2020. The URA may be used to support work being done as part of a capstone project, honors thesis, ongoing lab project, scholars program, art exhibit or performance, or an independent project. All disciplines welcome.

Application deadline: May 1, 2019

Already have research or creative work that will be ready to present by April 24th?

Present at Undergraduate Research and Creative Achievement Day (URCAD)

Student work is shared through oral presentations, posters, artistic exhibits, performances, and film. Over 300 presenters participate annually. All current undergraduates who have conducted research, scholarship or creative work in the last year may apply to present their results at URCAD. Mentors, fellow students, friends, family members, high school teachers and students, graduate school recruiters, and the general public are invited to attend.

Application deadline: February 22, 2019
