

CRT: Celebrating Language, Race and Culture in Education

Thursday, March 31-
Friday, April 1, 2022

The Maritime Conference Center
Linthicum Heights, Maryland 21090
mccbwi.org

REGISTRATION OPENS NOVEMBER 2021.

Visit our website: CRT-cc.org for conference details and registration.

Conference registration fees are the same for virtual or in-person attendance. Presenters must register for the conference and there is no discounted fee. It is our best hope to offer the conference in both formats. We will know better if there is a need for a full virtual experience as we enter into the new year.

KEYNOTE SPEAKERS

Dr. Asao B. Inoue
Professor of Rhetoric and Composition, Arizona State University.

Ingrid Sabio-McLaughlin
Associate Professor,
History & Women's Studies, CCBC.

Conference features: Two conference keynotes, workshops, and panels. Plan now to join your peers for a vibrant, informative discussion around Culturally Responsive Teaching and Learning. For educators and others whose work has a focus on culturally relevant pedagogy. Two- and four-year colleges and universities, K-12 schools, and students are welcome to attend.

CONFERENCE REGISTRATION FEES:

- $250 includes both conference days and meals
- $145 for one conference day
- $145 Students (for both conference days/$75 for one day)
- $145 Seniors (for both conference days/$75 for one day)

PRE-CONFERENCE CRTL TRAIN-THE-TRAINER INSTITUTE

Wednesday, March 30, 2022

A full-day of training in culturally relevant pedagogy. This special pre-conference session is to train those educators (and others) outside of CCBC interested in becoming a culturally responsive educator or staff member. The CRTL Train-the-Trainer Institute covers one of three offered modules. See website for details and registration.

CRTL Institute registration fee is $150 for full-day of training and materials.
