

Penn Language Center's 8th Annual LANGUAGE EDUCATOR SYMPOSIUM
Co-Sponsored by Educational Linguistics, Graduate School of Education

Discourse and Interaction IN LANGUAGE EDUCATION

Saturday, December 8, 2018 from 10 AM to 5 PM
Kislak Center in Van Pelt Library at the University of Pennsylvania

Keynote Presentation

Conversation Analysis and Language Teaching: Specifying the What and How

HANSUN ZHANG WARING, EdD

Associate Professor of Linguistics and Education, Teachers College, Columbia University
Founder, The Language and Social Interaction Working Group (LANSI)

Featured Workshops

Conversation Analysis and Language Teaching Materials Design
Innhwa Park, West Chester University

What don't we teach in the foreign language classroom?
Akiko Imamura, Swarthmore College

Teaching Beyond the Language Skills, or,
What Does It Mean to "Speak a Language?"
Catherine DiFelice Box, University of Pennsylvania

Teaching and Learning as Assisted Performance in Online Environments
Iryna Kozlova, University of Pennsylvania

What can an analysis of humorous talk tell us about language learners' communicative competence?
Anne Pomerantz, University of Pennsylvania

Language Learning through Spanish Language Debates Online
Antonio Reyes, Washington and Lee University
Betsy Rymes, University of Pennsylvania

PRE-SYMPOSIUM WORKSHOP on Friday, December 7 from 3 PM to 5 PM
Engaging in effective reflection in post-observation meetings
Santoi Wagner and Kristina Lewis, University of Pennsylvania

Details and registration at web.sas.upenn.edu/languageeducators2018