

The UMB Meyerhoff Graduate Fellows present:

“Stepping up to the Plate: Underrepresented scientists who have set the example”

When: Friday, February 27

Time: 10am-12pm

Location: SMC Campus Center, Elm Room 208A

Faculty panelists:

Greg Carey, PhD (Molecular Microbiology & Immunology)

Tonya Webb, PhD (Molecular Microbiology & Immunology)

Eduardo Davila, PhD (Molecular Microbiology & Immunology)

Laundette Jones, PhD (Pharmacology)

Post-Doctoral panelists:

Aqueasha Martin-Hammond, Ph.D. (Department of Information Systems, UMBC)

Taeyjuana Curry, PhD (Chemistry & Biochemistry, UMBC)

This program will offer students a look into the experiences of minority scientists who have overcome adversity, adapted to new environments and advanced within their field of study. These faculty members and post-docs will share tokens of wisdom and words of advice to current students based on their past experiences. After the panel students are encouraged to stay for lunch (12-1pm) to mingle with the panelists.
