

REACH TOGETHER

Community Leadership Courses

Introducing four new courses that will emphasize practical community leadership skills, and allow students to take deep experiential dives into specific topics and practices. These courses are available to graduate students for 1-credit of elective credit in the M.P.S. in Community Leadership (with Director approval) AND continuing learners through the UMBC Institute for Extended Learning.

Digital Storytelling for Community Leadership

Charlotte Keniston | February 3 - March 3, 2022

This course will guide students through the process of creating a digital story and also give them the tools to facilitate digital storytelling workshops themselves.

Community Organizing

Denise Griffin Johnson & Lane Victorson | March 10 - April 14, 2022

The course is for students who seek to expand, learn, and refine their skills in building organizational, social, and community power of action.

Social Justice Leadership & Dialogue

Ciara Christian & Jasmine Lee | April 21 - May 19, 2022

This course is designed for people who have a deep interest in issues related to race, social justice, power, privilege, oppression, intercultural dialogue, and the ways such issues influence our leadership abilities and interests.

Grassroots Community Advocacy

Candace Dodson-Reed & Tom Coale | July 13 - August 17, 2022

This course will focus on the tenets of grassroots community advocacy at the local level. From stop signs to school funding, local government plays a fundamental role in designing communities for people to thrive.

Information Sessions

December 1, 2021 and January 19, 2022

Learn about the content and format of the courses, how to enroll, and how to pay for them.

RSVP at bit.ly/cldrinfoession

UMBC

ixl.umbc.edu