

How to Be an Inspirational Leader: Unlock the Secrets of How Extraordinary Leaders Motivate

Facilitated Leadership Webinar for Faculty and Staff

Do you desire the skills to get the most out of your team, every time?

Are you interested in keeping those around you excited and enthused?

Wednesday
May 15th, 2013

12:30 pm – 3:30 pm

ITE Room 456

Inspirational leaders somehow find a way to get more out of their people than would have seemed possible. They get great results while maintaining the engagement and excitement of their team.

Very few people are born with the charismatic leadership abilities that naturally drive those around them to dig deep to achieve their all-out best. But these skills can be learned. When you attend this facilitated webinar, you'll learn the strategies used by the most inspirational leaders of all time to ignite incredible performance from people.

We will explore these topics:

This program is a webinar lead by National Seminars Group Trainer, Pamela Jett and discussion/skills practice facilitated by Terri Werner & Jill Weinknecht Wardell, UMBC T&OD Department.

- The distinction between 'managing' and 'leading' - what makes an inspirational leader.
- How to utilize inspirational appeals - logic, emotion, and credibility.
- Tips to boost egos without overinflating them.
- The importance of honesty and not misleading your team.
- Leading the charge - why your behavior is the number one factor in inspiration.
- Inspiration killers - common mistakes that will crush motivation.
- Creating a vision of the future to encourage great results.
- The vital role of clear communication in inspirational leadership.

Register on the web by May 7th at: www.umbc.edu/training

Spaces are limited and pre-registration is required.

UMBC Training
& Organization
Development

Creating conditions for learning to thrive

410-455-6262 | hrtraining@umbc.edu