OceanX is launching its first-ever Science Impact Challenge — and we want you to apply!

From August 2025 to March 2026, selected small teams will collaborate to develop innovative solutions using real data from one of OceanX's recent missions.

Participants will work together to design new and innovative ways to visualize scientific data and develop new approaches to ocean management. All projects will contribute to OceanX's AI platform and digital twin programs and help shape the future of ocean exploration.

WHAT TO EXPECT

- Tackle real mission data
- Innovate with AI and digital twin tech
- Make a meaningful impact on ocean science
- Present in-person and expand professional network
- Winning team earns a trip aboard the OceanXplorer ship

Ready to dive in? Applications close September 30th.
