

Undergraduate Certificate in the Social Dimensions of Health

Enhance your understanding of the sociocultural forces underlying health and illness experiences.

Strengthen your ability to use sociocultural theories and data to analyze health issues.

Gain knowledge of the ways sociocultural variables inform health care delivery, health practices, and health policy.

For more information about the certificate please scan the QR code or visit saph.umbc.edu!

