Confessions of a Serial Book Writer

A Social Science Faculty Workshop

Thursday, February 13, 2025 | 12noon | Webex

Dr. John Rennie Short

Professor Emeritus
The School of Public
Policy at UMBC

Are you interested in understanding how to engage the book writing process? Have you been considering turning your dissertation into a book, starting a new book writing project, or hoping to learn pointers for your next book writing endeavor?

Author of 60 books and editor of three book series, John Rennie Short will share his experience navigating social science publishing, explain how to craft a successful book proposal, and will offer useful tips for new authors.

Don't miss this chance to hear from one of the most accomplished voices in the field and take your book writing aspirations to the next level!
