

Sponsored by
Truth, Racial Healing, and Transformation Campus Center
Paul Peck Humanities Institute (MC)

WE SPEAK FOR OURSELVES HOW WOKE CULTURE PROHIBITS PROGRESS

What's Your Story?

Promoting youth literacy through storytelling and narrative change.

Date: Tuesday, Nov. 2, 2021

WORKSHOP: 4:30-5:30 via WebEx

Attendees will participate in a facilitated story circle, sharing a story from their life in response to a prompt. Everyone will be encouraged to arrive as they truly are and tell their story in a supportive space.

PANEL DISCUSSION: 5:30-6:30 via WebEx

Eric Ford is the Director of the Choice Program at UMBC and is passionate about improving public education outcomes, reducing the confinement rates for youth of color and developing future change agents for these causes.

Haleemat Adekoya is a UMBC Student in the Governor's Summer Internship Program (GSIP). Her major is political science with a certificate in elementary ed. She's interning at the Maryland State Department of Ed this summer through GSIP and also has had the chance to develop her own storytelling through our digital stories project.

Eric Ford

Haleemat Adekoya

Sign Up to Attend!